

J. C. DUFFY BACK FROM BALTIMORE

Hopkinsville Attorney Who Attended the National Democratic Convention

SAYS CLARK BEAT HIMSELF.

Makes Prediction That Wilson and Marshall Will Sweep the Country.

Hon. John C. Duffy, county attorney, was the only Hopkinsville man who staid at the Baltimore convention from start to finish. Mr. Duffy went to the convention strongly anti-Wilson, but soon became a Wilson enthusiast and comes back impressed with the idea that the ticket is the strongest that could have been nominated. In an interview with a Kentuckian representative yesterday Mr. Duffy said:

JOHN C. DUFFY.

"The impression was general among the delegates from all parts of the country that the ticket is the strongest that could have been nominated. The delegates from New York and even from Pennsylvania declared that the ticket will carry those states. The enthusiasm of the Wilson delegates and visitors was impressed upon everybody in the convention and elsewhere about the city. But the fatal blunder of Champ Clark's managers in making a line-up with New York for Parker as temporary chairman of the convention and against Bryan with the result that naturally followed was what gave Wilson the nomination. The lines were thenceforth drawn between the progressives and the reactionaries, as those favoring the 'interests' are called. Clark was forthwith lined up with them and for that reason could not get the progressive vote. Then Wilson had enthusiastic supporters on the delegations from every state in the union and was the only man strong enough to hold them. In my opinion there never has been a ticket nominated since the war with such splendid prospects of success. From the enthusiasm manifested from all sections the ticket ought to sweep the country."

Wilson and Marshall.

Hopkinsville has but two Wilsons and only one Marshall, although both names are not uncommon ones.

The Wilsons are Walter A. Wilson and Neal B. Wilson, and the Marshalls are George, Owen Marshall. The first name appears 30 times and the second 3 times in the new directory, but the gentlemen above named are the only white voters. There are several ladies bearing the name of Wilson, and the colored people are represented by several families.

Why Champ Howled.

It might have been expected that Champ Clark would make a big howl when he made his race on the Houn' Dawg platform.—Louisville Post.

WEST KY. ORPHANS' HOME

Semi-Annual Report, July 1, 1912.

To the Board of Directors and Executive Committee.

I beg to submit the following report of work done and money collected during the past half of the year:

Children received.....36
" placed in homes.....27
" now in the Home.....9
" legally adopted.....2
" placed and returned.....1

Money rec'd during Jan....$369.45

Total expenses.....$1,596.23

mand.....17.00

$1,413.23

Balance on hand.....$97.55

In addition to money collected, as reported above, the West Ky. Orphans' Aid Society has fully demonstrated its value as an auxiliary to the Home. This organization has practically assumed the burden of clothing children, and are nobly performing their part. Through their efforts, in addition to clothing furnished, I beg to report the receipt of substantial donations of drugs, ice, groceries, china and tinware, a lawn swing and other articles of value. From the country a nice ham has been received from our good friend L. O. Garrott and a nice donation of preserves and jellies from Mrs. W. E. Allen, of near Garrettsburg.

Our finances have in large part come to us unsolicited. And while we have not had sufficient to enable us to cover the field as closely as we would like and hope in the future to do, yet we have promptly responded to every call and met every demand made upon us. We have taken children from the lowest depths of poverty, want and misery, ragged and begrimed with filth, and now have them in some of the best homes to be found in this or any other part of the state, and almost weekly we receive letters from their foster parents, literally bubbling over with joy in possession of the child and gratitude to us for bringing it to them.

I cannot say positively but am quite sure that no other institution has taken a dependent child from this end of the state during the year. In fact we have them in the Home now who tried all of last year to get into other institutions and failing to do so were yet homeless and in great need when we recently found and promptly relieved them. We are certainly doing the work that is being done, while others are vigorously canvassing the field and getting the money.

Respectfully submitted,

W. D. HUMPHREY.

The above report was approved by the Executive Committee in regular session at Hopkinsville, Ky., July 4, 1912.

G. H. CHAMPLIN, Chairman.

Thomas Riley Marshall.

Woodrow Wilson's running mate, Governor Thomas Riley Marshall, of Indiana, is a Hoosier to the core. He was born in Indiana, educated at Wabash College, and practiced law in that State until his elevation to the governorship in 1909.

While Governor Marshall regards Columbia City, Ind., as his home, he has lived in Indianapolis most of the time of recent years, and has been prominently identified with the business and social life of that city.

Governor Marshall is 58 years old. He is a trustee of his alma mater, Wabash College, a member of the Presbyterian church and a thirty-third degree Mason.

Progressive Republican League of That State Will Be in the Battle Front Fighting.

Lansing, Mich., July 5.—Gov. Chase Osborn, an ardent Roosevelt supporter during the Colonel's battle for the republican presidential nomination, issued a statement in which he declared his belief that "there is no necessity for a new political party." He also stated he hoped Roosevelt would not be a candidate.

"The issue is clearly joined for the people," said the governor in his statement. "It is Wall street vs. Wilson. Woodrow Wilson's character, temperament, preparation and fitness is above the high average of American presidents. He is a Christian, a scholar and a fearless citizen."

"Republicans can vote for Wilson without leaving their party or bolting. The real republican party has no candidate for president this year. There has been no nomination. The action of the political freebooters at Chicago is not binding upon the republican party even if for the moment they are bearing aloft its stolen ensign."

Republicans For Wilson.

Minneapolis, July 5.—The Minnesota Progressive Republican League will back Woodrow Wilson, Democrat, in his coming campaign for the Presidential election, according to George S. Loftus, president of the league, in a statement. According to Mr. Loftus practically all of the members of the executive committee of the league have agreed to this plan.

"Woodrow Wilson represents our idea of progressivism," said Mr. Loftus. "There is no reason for us to join the third party movement and neither can we support President Taft. We will work for Mr. Wilson in the state."

Kenner-Burchett.

William Andrew Kenner and Miss Mary Everette Burchett were married in Clarksville Thursday. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Sallie Burchett, formerly of this city but now of Clarksville, and taught in the Christian county public schools last year. The groom is a son of the late Dr. A. Kenner and a brother of Mr. L. R. Kenner, of this city. The young people will reside in Paducah, where Mr. Kenner has a position with the Southern Express Company.

Dance For Miss Baynham.

Mr Leslie M. Baynham entertained very pleasantly Wednesday night with a dance at the armory. The affair was in honor of his sister, Miss Ruth Baynham of Hopkinsville, and was well attended and a very enjoyable dance. About 50 couples danced to the music furnished by Martin's orchestra.—Owensboro Inquirer.

The Thomas Divorce.

By the terms of the divorce granted by Judge Hanbery last week to Mrs. Georgia E. Thomas from her husband Thomas M. Thomas, Mrs. Thomas is given $2000 permanent alimony and $3,000 is to be set aside for the children. Mrs. Thomas has the custody of the five children, but the father is allowed to visit them one day in each week.

SUNDAY PICNIC

And Military Field Day at Madisonville Tomorrow.

Arrangements have been made by Capt. Claude Harris, of the local military company, for a pleasant and profitable day to be spent at the fair grounds next Sunday by the Madisonville and Earling on Military companies, at which time Col. Henry and his staff from Hopkinsville will be present.

The purpose of the meeting is for the instruction in field maneuvers, which will not be given at the national encampment, and it is important that every member of the two companies be present. The Hopkinsville band has been invited and will likely be here to furnish music during the day.

The entire day is to be spent at the fair grounds, and at noon a splendid dinner will be served. Each member of the local company is to take a fell filled basket, and the spread will be served by the soldier boys.

In the afternoon Col. Henry and Ed. Young will make short addresses.—Hustler.

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

No more holidays, excepting emancipation day (which doesn't count here), until labor day.

No price has been fixed on wheat. There has been so much rain that a large per cent may never be threshed.

Two hearts may "beat as one," but two telephone lines that serve as one is certainly one of the latest innovations.

Local Democrats are generally satisfied with the Baltimore nomination, but we have heard nothing of a ratification.

After news was received here that Woodrow Wilson had been nominated at Baltimore the "I-told-you-sos" were very much in evidence.

Clarksville was well represented at the ball game Thursday and the visitors were well paid for coming and returned home much enthused.

Nearly every businesshouse in the city closed for the ball game on the morning of the Fourth and they went to see our team go down in defeat.

Haven't heard anything about work being commenced on the post office building for two weeks. The foundation will doubtless be laid before fall—or it ought to be.

The big sewer emptying into the river at the foot of Tenth street may be voted a complete success. Two unusually hard rains have fallen since its completion and we have had no overflows.

Original Wilson men are numerous here but we know of none who will expect to be appointed to office when the Democratic nominee gets into the chair at Washington. They are for Wilson because he does not part his name between two l's and is a man of brains and is honest through and through.

Perhaps there were fewer people at prayer meeting last Wednesday night than for many years. Just at the time people were getting ready to start from home a heavy rain and wind storm came up from the west and everybody had to stay indoors. The attendance at the largest church was 8 and at one of the smallest it was 9.

A person would naturally suppose that the gradual increase in sales of automobiles, would cut down the sale of buggies and surreys, but such is not the case. Though more automobiles have been sold here than in any other year, dealers in buggies, etc., have increased their sales over those of last year. This spells "general prosperity" in capitals.

GOING A MILE A MINUTE

Heavy Fog Prevailed at the Time and Crash Came as Rear
Train Rounded Curve.

Corning, N. Y., July 5.—A west-bound Lackawanna passenger train from New York, composed of two engines, a baggage car, three Pullmans and two day coaches in the order named, was demolished at Gibson, three miles east of Corning, at 5.25 o'clock yesterday morning by an express train.

Forty-two persons were killed and between 50 and 60 injured. Many of them were holiday excursionists bound to Niagara Falls.

The atmosphere was heavy with fog and to this Engineer Schroeder of the express, attributes the wreck. He said he failed to see signals set against his train, whipped around a curve at 65 miles an hour and crashed into the stationary passenger train, held up by a crippled freight engine.

The train had not been stopped long enough for a flagman to get back to protect the rear. The wreck was the worst in the history of the Lackawanna.

OUT FOR WILSON.

Gabe L. Campbell and His Father, Capt. Ned Campbell, Against Taft.

Gabe L. Campbell, formerly County Court Clerk, and one of the most influential leaders of the Republican party in Christian county, authorized the statement that he will support Wilson over Taft. He qualifies it only by the statement that if Roosevelt runs and he thinks there is a chance for him to be elected, he will vote for the Colonel. Otherwise his vote will be put where it will do the most good in defeating Taft. He also says his venerable father, Capt. Ned Campbell, of Henderson, will vote as he does. Capt. Campbell is one of the most prominent Republicans in Western Kentucky and both he and his son are lifelong Republicans who have never before failed to support the party ticket.

Mr. Campbell is one of a large number of Christian county Republicans who boldly state that they will not support Taft.

Some of them say they will support Wilson, while others are awaiting developments. As nearly all of the colored people were for Roosevelt, the revolt among them also is expected to be something unprecedented in this county.

Thursday morning eight courses of brick, 25 feet long, fell on the pavement on Ninth street, from the top of the Phoenix building. Mr. C. T. This outing is strictly first class in every respect and will, as usual, be operated under the personal direction of Mr. W. A. Wilgus. Mr. Wilgus has during past years run a number of tours, personally handling them, and every one of them has been a success in all respects, his patrons always having expressions of highest praise for the excellent manner in which they were conducted. The indications are that the party this year will be larger than on any similar occasion.

N. Hazlip, the mayor, John Terrell, and Enoch Lynn, former street inspector.

Attorneys Wheeler, Hughes and Berry are representing Dr. Kidd and filed the petition, which has been prepared carefully. The petition will be placed on the docket for trial at the October term of the McCracken Circuit Court.—Paducah Sun.

Although the loss of life in the recent cyclone in Regina, Sask., was placed at twenty-eight, it is believed that more bodies will be dug out of the debris on which thousands of men and teams are laboring. The total property loss now is placed at $2,000,000.

Dr. Harvey W. Dr. Wiley made this known at a meeting which organized the Wilson-Marshall Democratic Club of the District of Columbia.

The Titanic investigation in London has closed. In all 98 witnesses were examined. Sir Rufus Isaacs, the attorney-general, in his closing speech, said he had been anxious to find, if possible, an excuse for the inaction of Capt. Lord, of the Californian, but he had regretfully come to the conclusion that there was no excuse for him. He asserted that utterly unnecessary risks had been taken by the Titanic and the causes of the disaster were a bad lookout and excessive speed.

Major-General R. F. Hoke, ranking Confederate officer and personal choice of Gen. Lee to succeed him in case he was killed in battle, died Wednesday morning at his home at Lincoln, N. C. He commanded the district of North Carolina in 1865 and surrendered with Johnston at Durham station, April 26, 1865.

NEW USE FOR THE BEEHIVE

Ingenious Farmer Finds That Its Temperature Makes It a Very Fine Incubator.

Although not many people own an incubator, it is rare for a person living in the country not to have facilities for the swarming of bees and the making of honey. A successful agriculturist has shown by recent experiments that a beehive may serve the purpose of an incubator. He alighted upon this discovery by observing that the proper temperature of incubators is exactly equal to that which the queen bee maintains in the interior of the hive. Why not give the bees a chance to do two things at once—hatch eggs and also pursue their ordinary vocation? In order to do this he arranged a species of quadrangular cage, or box, over the bottom of which he deposited a cloth. This he put over the live in the manner of a roof arranged just over the chamber where the bees were busiest. Then he put two dozen eggs over the cloth, protecting them from contact with the air by flannel wrappings, and let matters take their course. After the normal incubator time for hatching had elapsed he found that he had hatched eighteen chickens from twenty-four eggs. The experiment was repeated with equal success, and then he arranged each beehive with a cage. He finds that, on the average, he succeeds better with a hundred eggs hatched in this manner with the connivance of a dozen hens.

PERPETUAL MOTION.

As the term is generally understood, perpetual motion is the motion of an engine which, without any support or power from without, can not only maintain its own motion forever, but can also be applied to drive machinery, and therefore do external work. In other words, it means a device for creating power or energy without corresponding expenditure. This is absolutely impossible, no matter what physical forces be employed. The quantity of force in existence being fixed, no new stock can be created, and therefore a self-moving machine is out of the question. The modern physical axiom, the conservation of energy, founded on experimental bases as certain as those which convince us of the truth of the laws of motion, may be expressed in the negative thus: Perpetual motion is impossible.

BABY'S WEIGHT.

Children vary greatly in weight at birth. The average weight is seven pounds, but often a newly born baby proves to be nine or even ten pounds. During the first week little or no increase in weight occurs. There is a loss during the first three days and a gain for the next few days, so that at the end of the week the child weighs about the same as it did at birth.

Indigestion will have a serious effect on a baby's development, and if the weight decreases after the first week a doctor should be called.

NATURAL QUERY.

The late Gen. F. D. Grant, when discussing military neatness, used often to tell a story about his father. "My father was talking to General Sherman in his tent one day," he would begin, "when a third general entered, a brigadier notorious for his slovenliness. After the brigadier left, my father blew forth a cloud of smoke and said: "Sherman, I wonder whom that man gets to wear his shirts the first week?"

Might Not Be Alive.

McMinnville, Tenn.—Mrs. Ocie Jett, of this place, writes. "I don't believe I would be living today, if it hadn't been for Cardui. I lay in bed 27 days, and the doctor came ever day, but he did me no good. Finally, he advised an operation, but I would not consent, and instead took Cardui. Now I am going about the house, doing my work, and even do my washing. Cardui worked wonders in my case. I am in better health than for five years." Cardui is a strengthening tonic for women. It relieves pain, tones up the nerves, builds strength. Try it. At your druggist's.

A FINE LINE OF COPY-

RIGHTED ART CALENDARS.

The plans for your advertising campaign this year should by all means include a handsome Art Advertising Calendar for 1913. We have secured the exclusive agency for the Copyrighted Calendars produced by the A. M. Collins Mfg. Co., of Philadelphia.

This is one of the largest and most substantial Calendar houses in the United States, and the quality of their line is superior to that of any ever shown in this section.

This line will be handled exclusively by us in Christian and Trigg counties. It includes a great number and variety of subjects in full color, as well as some hand colored pictures of exceptional beauty.

The samples for 1913 will be in our hands shortly, and we shall be glad to show them to you at an early date. MAKE NO PLANS FOR YOUR 1913 CALENDAR UNTIL YOU SEE THIS EXTRAORDINARY LINE.

PERFUMER'S DAY WILL COME

Then He Will Have Odors That Will Move Mankind Most Profoundly.

A perfumer was talking shop. "When will my trade," he said, "develop as it should? When will perfume sway men's minds as drink and fame do now?"

"I have a dog. Often in the country my dog will spy a dead, rotting, sun-dried bird or fish. The odor of that carcass fills my dog with ecstasy. He rolls upon it in a delirium. It is difficult, even with a club, to make him stop. Well, there, just there, is the perfume that sways dogs, and a dog perfumer, patenting it, would become a billionaire.

"The serpent arum is a plant of strong odor. The arum has, indeed, a stench. Well, this stench attracts to it from miles around all those insects that fed on carrion. If you look into the cup of the serpent arum you are sure to see a very inferno of insect drunkards—hundreds of them, intoxicated by the arum's odor, whirling and leaping and splashing in a mad dance. For the serpent arum's odor is the odor par excellence of insects, as the rotten, sun-baked fish odor is the odor par excellence of dogs.

"Have I any perfume that sways mankind like that? No, none. Imagine my new-mown hay drawing a lady from her milliner's or her pet pianist's! Imagine my grogic drawing a man from his beer or his jackpot!

"Yet the day will come, I am convinced, when we shall have perfumes that will move mankind as profoundly as the spoiled fish perfume moves a dog and as the serpent arum perfume moves the Dermestes and Saprinidae. In that day my address will be Riverside drive, Newport, Jekyll Island, Monte Carlo and Los Angeles."

WOULD HAVE MISSED FIRE

Julius Kahn's Story of Hoosier Who Locked Himself Into His Hotel Room.

Julius Kahn had just been re-elected to congress by a very small margin, and one of his political supporters was reminding him of the service he had rendered in the campaign.

"What would you have done if it hadn't been for me?" he asked.

"Why, I would have been in the position of the Hoosier in the hotel," replied Kahn. "He and two companions occupied one large room together. After a day in the metropolis devoted principally to following fire engines in the hope of seeing a conflagration, the cement sidewalks proved too much for feet that were accustomed to plowed ground, and he retired. When his companions returned a few hours later they found the door locked. They kicked on the door until they awakened him and asked for the key."

"I threw it over the transom," he replied. "When they had found it and unlocked the door one of them asked: 'What would you have done if there had been a fire?'"

"Why, I wouldn't have went."—Saturday Evening Post.

Plants That Go to Sleep

Plants have a mind of their own on the subject of winter sleep, and gardeners have tried various methods of waking them up prematurely, to furnish blossoms at a time when they are scarce and costly. Mere greenhouse heat and moisture failing to yield the desired results, they have successfully tried warm baths and ether vapors to shorten the hibernating period of bulbs. From Germany comes a description of the latest plan devised by a man named Weber. By sticking a needle into the base of the bud he has caused it to unfold two or three weeks ahead of its fellows. Still more time was gained by injecting water into the buds. Not content with water, a physician has tried injections of water with ten per cent. of alcohol. By this means he succeeded in gaining ten days in the budding of oak twigs.

Art.

Art is the great and universal refreshment. For art is never dogmatic; holds no brief for itself; you may take it, or you may leave it. It does not force itself rudely where it is not wanted. It is reverent to all tempers, to all points of view. But it is wilful—the very wind in the comings and goings of its influence, an uncapturable fugitive, visiting our hearts at vagrant, sweet moments; since even before the greatest works of art we often stand without being able quite to lose ourselves! That restful oblivion comes, we never quite know when—and it is gone! But when it comes, it is a spirit hovering with cool wings, blessing us, from least to greatest, according to our powers; a spirit deathless and varied as human life itself.—John Galsworthy in the Atlantic.

A Card to the Club.

Old Colonel Dick Bright of Washington was shaved for many years by a negro barber, who, not being blessed with the splendid longevity of the colonel, finally died. Bright went to the funeral, and at the dinner table that evening said he had put his visiting card in the old barber's coffin.

"That's the craziest thing I ever heard of," remarked a friend. "What on earth did you do it for?"

"Well," explained the colonel, "I he goes to heaven, he won't need it. But, if he goes to the other place, it will introduce him to a lot of good fellows.—Popular Mechanics.

CURRENT COMMENT

CREAM OF NEWS COMPILED AND COLLECTED FROM ALL SOURCES

The Democrat has not been found who will not support the ticket.

In New Orleans 1,693,000 flies were killed in one swatting contest. Some got away.

It is still Gov. McDermott while Gov. McCreary is resting two weeks at Atlantic City.

Marse Henri says Wilson is an abler man than Bryan. That's high praise from an enemy.

When Woodrow Wilson won, we were wonderfully wise. Watterson was wrong. We will win.

The dose of medicine intended for Bryan went out at the upper end of the quill. W. J. "blowed just."

The collapse of the Akron, Vaniman's airship, leaves Teddy once more the biggest gas bag in the country.

As a result of his latest line-up, Champ Clark is likely to have opposition for re-election for Speaker from the winning side.

John Mason Brown, a former attorney of Louisville, but whose home was in Washington, D. C., died this week while on a visit to Louisville.

Gov. Wilson had a friend who offered to put up $5000 to foot the bills of the Wilson delegates who "went broke." Fortunately the deadlock "broke" first, and the money wasn't needed.

J. P. Whittinghill, of Glendean, recent State revenue agent who made himself odious by his methods of collecting back taxes, is announced as a Republican candidate for Congress in the Fourth district.

Clarksville took both games in the double-header Thursday by clean hitting. Hopkinsville played an errorless game here and made only two errors at Clarksville, but Clarksville's 20 hits in the two games did the work.

Eight aviators killed in twenty-four hours is thinning them out some. At Boston Miss Harriet Quimby and a passenger dropped Monday evening, at Atlantic City Vaniman and four others were killed Tuesday and the same day Koenig was killed in Germany. This brings the total up to 151 since 1903. The further we get into the science of aviation the more dangerous it becomes.

The Democratic convention at Charleston in 1860 took 57 ballots and made no nomination and then split and later made two nominations. The Baltimore convention did not break the record for ballots taken, though it did surpass the Republican convention of 1880 that nominated Garfield on the 36th ballot.

Champ Clark is very sore over his defeat, which he charges to Bryan. He is quoted as saying:

"I lost the nomination solely through the vile and malicious slanders of Col. William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska. True these slanders were by innuendo and insinuation, but they were no less deadly for that reason." Speaker Clark made a deliberate choice of bedfellows at Baltimore and doubtless realized too late that he had made the blunder of his life. He was his own Burchar.

Nothing Doing.

Half the summer is gone and nothing has been done on the Jefferson Davis Highway.

Killed His Wife.

DEMOCRACY'S LEADERS.

PURELY PERSONAL.

Prof. Barksdale Hamlett, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Mrs. Hamlett spent several days in the city this week.

Miss Ruth Johnson, daughter of Mr. T. P. Johnson, is visiting in Paducah.

Mrs. H. D. Wanger, of Little Rock, Ark., is visiting her mother, Mrs. E. M. Gooch.

Cent. E. W. Clark's little boy, who had been considered in a critical condition Thursday is now out of danger.

John McPherson of the dry goods department of J. H. Anderson & Co., spent the Fourth in Madisonville. We do not say that the "Col." is not struck on somebody in that town, there is no telling.

Mrs. Mary L. Dyer, of Sturgis, is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. A. Stewart, on North Viaginin street.

Mrs. John W. Sholar has just returned from a visit to her husband, who is in an Evansville sanitarium, and says he is getting along nicely.

Mrs. H. F. McCamey, of Princeton, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Isabella Roper.

Lawrence Hord, of Memphis, will arrive in the city tomorrow to spend two weeks with his mother.

Opposes Merger.

The City Council of Evansville, Ind., has employed attorneys to prevent the proposed merger of the public utilities of that city, charging that it would be in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Which Is the Joke On?

Elsewhere in this issue the pictures of the officers of the new Christian-Todd Telephone Co. appear and the names under those of Frank Hoge and Gordon Edwards are transposed. As both are very handsome gentlemen, it doesn't matter much, but we are sorry each didn't get his own name under his smiling features.

RAIN RECORD.

Figures furnished by W. F. Randall, official records for months of April, May, June and up to July 5th, 4:00 p. m.

Rained 13 days in April, 8 days in May and 12 days in June.

The amount of rain that fell in 95 days was 25 and 30-100 inches.

This is the heaviest fall of rain since 1906.

Ninth This Week.

New York, 5.—Six thousand persons, including the fiancée of Thomas Moore, a professional aeronaut, saw him tumble to death from a parachute yesterday, after making a thrilling balloon ascension from Hillside Pleasure Park, Belleville, N. Fouled By Flynn.

The heavyweight championship fight at East Las Vegas was stopped by police in the ninth round July 4. Hopelessly outclassed, Jim Flynn resorted to foul tactics as the only apparent means of tempering a merciless beating that had continued from the first round. The decision was awarded to Jack Johnson.

A Lead Pencil Danger.

In the United States the danger of putting pencils in the mouth has long been recognized; and in all the schools every precaution is taken to prevent the interchange of pencils as well as the moistening of them with the lips. A great many children and even their elders, who ought to know better, persist in putting pencils in their mouth regardless of the risk they run.

Roasted Victim Alive.

An almost unbelievably cruel happening has come to light at Hiroshima, Japan. There a man and his wife have been arrested for willfully cremating a live man. The prisoners were in charge of a crematorium, and while at work a faint voice coming out of a coffin begged for fresh air. The couple took no notice, however, and proceeded to apply fire, roasting the man alive.

IOWA WOMAN WELL AGAIN

Freed From Shooting Pains Spinal Weakness, Dizziness, by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Ottumwa, Iowa.—"For years I was almost a constant sufferer from female trouble in all its dreadful forms; shooting pains all over my body, sick headache, spinal weakness, dizziness, depression, and everything that was horrid. I tried many doctors in different parts of the United States, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than all the doctors. I feel it my duty to tell you these facts. My heart is full of gratitude to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my health."—Mrs. HARRIET E. WAMPLER, 521 S. Ransom Street, Ottumwa, Iowa.

Consider Well This Advice. No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for nearly forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

SHAM BATTLE BY COMPANY D

At Sadler's Grove Was Fought
Out in the Rain Thursday Afternoon.

SPECTATORS SOUGHT SHELTER

The Glorious Fourth Was Big Day For the Old Soldiers,
Who Had Reunion.

There was a large attendance at Sadler's Grove last Thursday and everything went off according to program until the time for the sham battle by Co. D. arrived.

Just as the soldiers got in line for the battle, about one o'clock, the rain began to fall in torrents. The would be spectators were deprived of the pleasure of seeing Co. D in action—not that the soldiers were not in fighting humor, but that the citizens did not want to get a soaking. So they sought protection in stables, barns, or any other shelter from the raging elements.

But Co. D did not propose to go out there for nothing but their dinner, in fact the dinner had put them in fighting trim and they yearned for the smell of powder.

A number of men had been stationed in a nearby barn and under Capt. Clark's orders three squads charged "the enemy." After making a determined resistance the enemy surrendered—"without the loss of a man," while the attacking force soon scattered and sought shelter wherever they could find it. They were the wettest lot of boys that ever donned a soldier's uniform, but they all enjoyed the "Glorious Fourth" to the fullest.

SEEN AND HEARD.

Pay your "dawg" tax and muzzle your bull "dawg" too. That's the law.

We are going back to first principles. Washington was the first and only president whose initial was W. Wilson will be the second.

"Taft and His Cabinet" and "The Forgotten Dancing Shoes" was one of the reels run off at the moving picture show Thursday. Wonder if Mr. Taft left his dancing shoes at Chicago not long since?

Hopkinsville, without a park for more than a hundred years, now has three. Think of it. And she has $25,000 to pay for park improvements. The money is in the bank and we guess the city fathers will soon get busy about their new duty.

Judge C. H. Bush was seen in a buggy with a gentleman driving out South Main Thursday afternoon and was asked if he was on his way to join Claude Clark's outing party. The Judge, with that peculiar smile of his, replied that he hadn't got that far along yet. When told that the party carried two boats with them and there was no danger, he said from the way it had been raining they would need a Titanic. Of course the Judge would not have any of the party suffer the fate of about 1600 of the passengers of the monster ship; he intended to convey the idea that the continuous

She Stayed in Bed.

Ingram, Tex.—"Ever since I became a woman," writes Mrs. E. M. Evans, of this place, "I suffered from womanly troubles. Last fall I got so bad I had to stay in bed for nearly a week every month. Since I have taken Cardui, I feel better than I have for years." You can rely on Cardui. It acts on the womanly organs and helps the system to regain its normal state of health in a natural way. Prepared especially for women, it prevents womanly pains, by acting on the cause, and builds up womanly strength in a natural way. Purely vegetable. Mild, but certain in action. Try it.

rains threaten to deluge the Southern part of the county.

Prof. Brownell is one of the busiest of men these days and has to be away from home a great part of his time. Though last year was an unprecedentedly successful one with Bethel College, Prof. Brownell is determined that 1912-13 shall eclipse all previous ones. The outlook is most encouraging and when the college doors are thrown open for the fall term everybody wishes a larger enrollment of pupils than ever before.

With the passing of years and the march of progress, the Phoenix building is about the last old landmark remaining, and even that has commenced to yield to the demands of thrift and enterprise, two store rooms now being torn down for Cooper's magnificent picture show building. In 1880 the Kentucky Press Association met here and "Marse Henry" Watterson was then young enough to meet with the "boys" and enjoy the festivities of the occasion with the liveliest of them. The morning after his speech at the court house while on his way to the passenger station (we had but one railroad then) he remarked that Hopkinsville was the oldest town he had ever seen. If he would like to see an entirely new town he ought to visit Hopkinsville again.

MEANS WAR

Trouble Liable To Follow Big Mexican Engagement At Juarez

El Paso, Tex., July 5.—Rebel troops are reported rushing toward the border in large numbers from Bachimba. Gen. Orozco, the Rebel leader, has abandoned Chihuahua, and a desperate free-for-all fight is expected at Juarez. In consequence the entire National Guard of Texas has been ordered under arms and the United States Government has issued orders for additional troops to proceed to the border at this point at once. If bullets from the Mexicans, whether Rebels or Federals, fly into El Paso, the Texas militia will shell Juarez and cross the river, if necessary, to stop the disturbance.

Operator a Heroine.

After warning inhabitants of Peewee Valley of a fire in the building in which the telephone exchange was located, Miss Ida Ochsner, an operator, climbed down a telephone pole to safety. After the fire had caused $10,000 damage; aid in extinguishing a coal bunker was asked of Louisville, and an engine and reel were sent on a special train.

FIRE ALARM

Automobile Blazes In The Ideal
Motor Co's Garage.

An automobile blaze is something new, so new that it may be classed with other innovations.

Yesterday morning at 11:25 the fire department was called to the Ideal Motor Car Co., Main street, between 4th and 5th.

A man in the rear end of the garage was doing some repair work and using a gasoline torch. About fifteen feet from him was another man with a gasoline sprayer in his hand, cleaning off Dr. Austin Bell's automobile. The air became so impregnated with the fumes of gasoline that it ignited and soon the inside of Dr. Bell's car was in a blaze and the alarm was turned in. When the department arrived the fire had been put out by the men in the garage. The car was not insured and the loss will be about $150.

FARMERS COMPLAINING

Of the Effects of Wet Weather
Lasting Four Weeks.

Perhaps the present wet season is the longest known to prevail at this time of the year. It has been raining for about four weeks. Rain caused a delay in preparing the ground for all crops. Just at this time the farmer has nothing to do but watch it rain, rain. He can't plow his corn, he can't have his wheat threshed, and the danger of its rotting grows greater every day. And there's a new trouble on the farmers mind now. Some of our merchants say there are reports from different sections of tobacco stalks rotting and falling down.

Thirty-five members of the National Democratic Executive Committee visited Gov Woodrow Wilson, at Seagirt, N. James would visit him to arrange details for formal notification of his nomination by the Baltimore convention.

HOW WILSON WON BATTLE

Story of the Big Democratic Fight in Baltimore.

BRYAN VS. MURPHY

Convention a Mighty Struggle Between Those Titans of Politics.

COMMONER ALWAYS TO FRONT

His Sensational Attack on Plutocrats and Tammany, and Stanchfield's Bitter Reply—How Champ Clark's Forces Failed to Prevent the Nomination of the Governor of New Jersey—Delegates Wearied and Exasperated by the Week-Long Contest.

FOR PRESIDENT.
WOODROW WILSON

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT.
THOMAS R. MARSHALL

By W. A. PATTERSON.

Convention Hall, Baltimore.—The base individual without an admission ticket will tell you he would not go if he had a ticket, "as all national conventions are alike."

It has been my privilege to attend a few national conventions, including the recent Republican gathering at Chicago, and the meeting of the Democrats at Baltimore, and I can assure you the convention held here, which nominated Woodrow Wilson for president, and Thomas R. Marshall for vice-president, was different.

Writers, like delegates, receive instructions, and writers, like delegates, may not safely disregard these instructions. I am going to try not to disregard mine, which were to the effect that I write, not a political news "story" filled with opinions for or against principles or factions or individuals, but a "human interest story," that side of the big meeting of Democrats which the "people at home" would have seen had they been permitted to attend, without regard to the faults or virtues of the contending sides, or the right or wrong of the different factions.

The Baltimore convention was one of those great gatherings which one may witness but once in a lifetime if at all; the kind of a political gathering whose like has never before been witnessed in this or any other country.

It was a battle of political Titans—two men—William Jennings Bryan, three times the standard-bearer of the party, and Charles F. Murphy, the recognized leader of Tammany, probably the most remarkable political organization this country has ever known.

No sooner had Cardinal Gibbons, clad in the rich robes of his churchly office, pronounced the final words of the opening invocation on Tuesday noon than the battle was on.

Mr. Bryan's nomination of Senator Kern for the temporary chairmanship in opposition to Judge Parker, the choice of the national committee, was but a feint. When Mr. Kern, taking the speaker's platform, pleaded for Democratic harmony, and proposed to Judge Parker that they both retire in favor of any one of half a dozen men whom he named, Mr. Bryan scored his first tally. He had the opposition on the defensive for a time at least.

When Judge Parker declined to respond to Senator Kern's proposition the senator retired and named Mr. Bryan for temporary chairman, a move that was wildly welcomed by the New York delegation, as Mr. Murphy was more than willing to try conclusions with the Commoner on a direct issue.

The surprise of the day was the throwing of the Clark strength to Parker and it was that incident, happening within an hour after Chairman Mack's gavel had called the convention to order, that produced the deadlock when the balloting for the nominee began early Friday morning. It resulted in the defeat of Mr. Bryan by a vote of 579 for Parker to 510 for Bryan.

The defeat of Colonel Bryan for the temporary chairmanship was a momentous event for the Democratic party, and the leaders and the rank and file of the party knew it when it occurred. It was no longer a contest between candidates. It was war between Bryan and Mr. Murphy. Both had accepted the issue of battle, and there would be no man among them the willing of Theodore A. Bell of California, temporary chairman of the Denver convention of four years ago to the Murphy forces. Mr. Bell led the opposition to Bryan, and did not hesitate in demanding that the Nebraska, to whom the Democracy had given three opportunities, now step aside and permit other leaders to shape the course of the party.

After the vote ex-Governor Patterson of Ohio expressed the feelings of many of the old leaders who had that day voted against Bryan, when he said:

"The defeat of Mr. Bryan, necessary though it was, was an occasion for tears rather than cheers. He has been and is a great man, but he has had his opportunity, and must now step aside."

That Tuesday night following the defeat of Mr. Bryan will ever remain a memorable one in Democratic history. The great question of that night was: "Is it to be a bolt?"

Among the leaders for the various candidates, the Clark forces instantly realized that if the speaker was to win he must do so in spite of Mr. Bryan's opposition. The Wilson leaders knew they would have Bryan's support, but would it suffice? Leaders of other candidates were wondering what form the alignment would take when the deadlock between Clark and Wilson should be broken.

Mr. Bryan was named as a member of the committee on resolutions, but refused the chairmanship of the committee. The reason for his refusal was explained on Thursday night, when, after the permanent organization had been completed and Ollie James of Kentucky had delivered his address as permanent chairman, Mr. Bryan stepped to the front of the speaker's platform and asked unanimous consent for the presentation of a resolution. But the convention was not willing to take Mr. Bryan on faith, and cries of "No! No!" "Read it! Read the resolution!" arose from all parts of the great hall.

Mr. Bryan, raising his voice so that it filled the hall, and could be heard despite the uproar, read:

"Resolved, That we hereby declare ourselves against the nomination of any candidate representing or under the domination of J. Pierpont Morgan, Thomas P. Ryan, August Belmont or any other member of the favored or privilege seeking class. Also that we ask any delegate representing such an interest be requested to withdraw."

It is impossible for words to express the uproar and turmoil of the moment. Cheers, groans, catcalls, hisses were mingled in one deafening roar.

Mr. Bryan had again put the opposition on the defensive.

"Mr. Chairman! Mr. Chairman!" came the demands for recognition from all portions of the hall, and Congressman Brice of Virginia was recognized and invited to the speaker's stand.

When a semblance of order had been restored, and before Mr. Brice had had an opportunity to speak, Mr. Bryan announced that if New York and Virginia would take a poll of their delegations, and if a majority of the delegates of each state voted in favor of Belmont and Ryan, he would withdraw the last paragraph of his resolution.

"No! No!" came the cries from the delegations of the two states.

Raising his voice so as to be heard above the uproar, Mr. Bryan stated that two delegates from Virginia had asked that such part of the last paragraph as applied to Virginia be withdrawn, and he would do so, and if one delegate from New York would make the same request for that state he would withdraw the last paragraph entirely.

Again came the cries of "No! No!" accompanied by groans and hisses.

The convention at that moment was against Mr. Bryan and his resolution as originally read would have been voted down, had the opportunity been offered.

Brice succeeded in getting attention and in the name of the Virginia delegation offered defiance to the Commoner, stating that no member of the the Virginia delegation had asked for the withdrawal of any part of the resolution; that Virginia was entirely competent to handle its internal affairs, and would recognize no right of Mr. Bryan to meddle with her.

New York's policy of silence, a policy which was maintained throughout the convention, remained unbroken throughout the turmoil, which lasted for four hours.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM SUMMARIZED

Following is a summary of the more important planks in the platform adopted by the Democratic national convention:

Declares for a tariff for revenue only; denounces the high Republican tariff as the principal cause of the unequal distribution of wealth. Favors immediate downward revision of present duties, especially upon necessities of life. Also favors gradual reduction so as not to interfere with or destroy legitimate industries.

Takes issue with the Republican platform as to the high cost of living, contending it is largely due to high tariff laws.

Favors vigorous enforcement of the criminal features of the anti-trust law. Demands such additional legislation as may be necessary to crush private monopoly.

Urges people to support proposed constitutional amendments, providing for an income tax and election of United States senators by direct vote of the people.

Declares for presidential preference primaries. Pledges party to enactment of law prohibiting campaign contributions by corporations and unreasonable campaign contributions by individuals.

Favors single presidential term and making president ineligible to re-election.

Favors efficient supervision and rate regulation of railroads, express companies, telegraph and telephone lines and a valuation of these companies by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In connection with a demand for such a revision of the banking laws as will give temporary relief in case of financial distress there is a denunciation of the Aldrich bill prepared by the monetary commission.

Recommends investigation of agricultural credit societies in Europe to ascertain whether a system of rural credits may be devised suitable to conditions in the United States.

Pledges party to enactment of legislation to prevent devastation of lower Mississippi valley by floods.

Favors national aid regarding post roads.

Repeals party's declaration of the platform of 1908 as to rights of labor and pledges the party to an employees' compensation law.

Declares the unnecessary withdrawal of public lands tends to retard development and brings reproach upon policy of conservation; declares for immediate action to make available Alaskan coal lands.

Favors encouragement of agriculture and legislation to suppress gambling in agricultural products.

Believes in fostering growth of a merchant marine.

Reaffirms previous declarations regarding pure food and public health.

Favors reorganization of the civil service.

Recommends law reform legislation.

Reaffirms position against "policy of Imperialism and colonial exploitation" in Philippines.

Demands for Alaska full enjoyment of rights and privileges of territorial form of government.

Favors parcels post and extension of rural delivery.

could be taken Mr. Bryan withdrew the last paragraph of his resolution, and the resolution was then passed practically unanimously.

The dramatic incident, probably the most dramatic that has ever occurred in a national political convention, had but served to widen the breach between the Bryan and Murphy forces, if that were possible.

From the first to the ninth ballot

New York voted "90 for Harmon," and Nebraska voted almost solidly for Clark, as instructed by the state convention. Mr. Bryan, as a Nebraska delegate-at-large, following the instructions up to and including the fourteenth ballot. On the tenth ballot New York switched to "90 for Clark," causing a Clark demonstration. The balloting continued without serious interruption until Nebraska was called on the fifteenth, when Mr. Bryan arose from his seat on the floor and asked permission to explain a change in his vote.

"No! No!" came the cries, and Congressman Sulzer of New York, who was presiding, ruled the Nebraskan out of order, and instructed him to vote without an explanation.

"Despite my instructions, I will not vote for Clark so long as New York votes for him," yelled Mr. Bryan, and pandemonium was again loose in the great convention.

The unanimous consent which Mr. Bryan had asked was finally granted at the request of Senator Stone of Missouri.

From the platform Mr. Bryan read a typewritten statement, saying he did so for the reason that he did not want to be misquoted. It was a scathing arraignment of Murphy and the interests Bryan claims Murphy represents, and another effort to read Tammany out of the Democratic party. He referred to his resolution which the convention had passed on Thursday night, and said no candidate the party might nominate with the assistance of the New York delegation voting as a unit under the direction of Murphy would be in a position to carry out the promises of that resolution.

The reading of his statement was interrupted time after time before it was completed, and when completed a hundred or more delegates were on the floor clamoring for recognition.

"Will you stop the nomination convention?" yelled one delegate. "I do not expect to bill" said Mr. Bryan.

My first refused to answer unless it were made more explicit.

Another asked whether he considered a refusal to support a candidate receiving Murphy's support the same as a refusal to support for president a man nominated with Murphy's support:

"Does not the law make a difference," replied Mr. Bryan, "between the lawyer who defends a criminal after the crime has been committed, and the man who assists in the commission of crime?"

Mr. Bryan then announced his vote for Woodrow Wilson and retired to his seat in the Nebraska delegation; and he continued to cast his vote for Wilson throughout the night.

Numerous efforts to break both the unit rule as applied to instructed delegations and the two-thirds rule as applied to the nomination were made previous to the Saturday night adjournment. The first of these applied to Ohio and was successful, the move adding ten votes to the Wilson strength. But the resolution that applied to Ohio did not cover other states, and the enforcing of the rule led to wrangles on every ballot.

At the close of the twenty-fifth ballot late Saturday night Senator Stone of Missouri asked unanimous consent for the consideration of a motion providing that beginning with the twenty-eighth ballot the lowest man should drop out of the race, and on the final ballot the candidate receiving the majority of the votes cast should be the party nominee. The Texas delegation offered immediate objection, and the long, tedious calling of the roll of states continued.

With Monday came two important and interesting features. One was the apparent cracking of the deadlock in favor of Wilson. Despite the desperate endeavors of the Clark forces, the governor's vote increased steadily on every ballot until, on the thirty-ninth, it stood at 50 1/2%. After the fortieth ballot the Wilson vote fell off to 49 1/2%, his net gain over the first ballot being 8 1/2%. When Wilson was at the high water mark on Monday, Clark had slumped to 42 1/2% and went up again to 43 1/2% before adjournment. At this time it seemed that the Illinois delegation held the key to the situation.

The other big event of the day was the exhortation of Bryan by John B. Stanchfield of New York. This was Murphy's first return blow, and it was a hard one. Praising the New York delegation, Stanchfield said:

"It is by common consent the most representative delegation that ever came to a national convention from New York. If these be the 'puppets of wax' that Mr. Bryan refers to, we say to that money-grabbing, office-seeking, publicity-hunting marplot of Nebraska—"

Stanchfield could not conclude the sentence. It was drowned in a burst of cheers.

While the speaker delivered this attack Bryan sat quietly in his seat. He watched Stanchfield closely and occasionally smiled.

"I desire to say again, the vote of New York is vital to success," continued Mr. Stanchfield. "And no man can go forth from this convention stigmatized and branded with the mark of Bryanism upon him and come within half a million votes of success."

"When Mr. Bryan makes the statement that these delegates from New York are under the influence of Morgan and Ryan and Belmont, the 'plutocrats' of this convention, he omits his name. Outside of the three he has named, the rest of the most powerful delegation on the floor is the New York delegation."

Stanchfield was in the ing mind, and once there was a genuine riot of which Bryan was the center. He received an insult the action of which Clark enthusiastically placed in front of the Commoner a banner bearing words of praise of Clark attributed to Bryan in 1910. "Bryan, New Jersey and Nebraska delegates 'raised it up' and even some press correspondents took a hand. Then the police separated the belligerents and later A. M. Doehery and Dave Francis sent apologies to Bryan, disclaiming for the Missouri delegation any connection with the banner.

Tired and out of temper, the delegates assembled at noon Tuesday, determined to wind up matters quickly if possible. On the first ballot of the day, the forty-third, Illinois switched over to Wilson and on the succeeding ballots the vote of the governor rapidly increased. After the forty-fifth Senator Bankhead arose and withdrew the name of Oscar Underwood. "That means Wilson," said the managers for Clark. Then Governor Foss' name also was withdrawn, whereupon Senator Stone and ex-Governor Francis gave up hope for the speaker. They formally released the Clark delegates from their pledges, and it seemed all over but the shouting. But the Tammany bunch and some others were still stubborn, and Fitzgerald of New York objected to the unanimous nomination of Wilson by acclamation. So further calling of the roll was necessary.

Every strategy known in political generalship was tried to stampede the convention for the different candidates. No convention in the history of this country has seen such wild demonstrations as have been witnessed in this one at Baltimore.

While Tuesday's dramatic incident, arising over the selection of a temporary chairman, was the cause of almost unprecedented turmoil, there was nothing even bordering on a demonstration. It was just plain fight—not enthusiasm.

Even the speech of Temporary Chairman Parker did not arouse the response so characteristic of Democratic conventions of the past, and the convention showed nothing but a fighting mood until after the incident of the Bryan resolution of Thursday evening and the beginning of the nominating speeches.

The Clark and Wilson forces struggled valiantly to make the greater showing for their respective candidates. While Clark was showing the greater voting strength, the lung power of the thousands of college boys in the Wilson following gave to him an advantage so far as continued effort at noise-making was concerned.

The terrific din of Thursday night which was started by the Clark hosts when Senator Reed named the speaker for the Democratic nomination continued unabated for one and a quarter hours, and in it there seemed to be employed every noise-making implement ever invented.

Great as was the Clark demonstration, however, it did not compare in noise with that led by the Princeton boys when Judge Westcott named the New Jersey executive. For more than one and a half hours the din continued, the lusty youngsters seeming to glory in their ability to keep it up.

Of all of the demonstrations of Thursday night the most amusing was that started by a man in the press stand for Governor Baldwin, when the name of the Connecticut executive was entered in the race for the nomination. Realizing that the fourteen delegates from Connecticut could not successfully compete with the stronger following of the other candidates the men in the press stand volunteered a noisy assistance which they continued for more than twenty minutes and which subsided only when the chair threatened to clear the press stand if the reporters did not stop. The many star writers in the press stand, men whose reputations for genius are world-wide, led the Baldwin demonstration, and introduced duced into it all the elements of a first-class vaudeville show or a Grid-iron club dinner. It was the one really spontaneous and amusing demonstration of the long week.

"Alfalfa Bill" Murry, a Wilson delegate from Oklahoma, was the acknowledged leader of the Wilson "demonstrators" among the delegations. Any time "Alfalfa Bill" wanted to start something he would raise his tousled head, wave his long arms at the north gallery where a group of Princeton boys had seats, and let out a wild yell. It never failed to produce results. It was such a move that started the demonstration on Thursday night when on the twenty-fourth ballot the New Jersey executive passed the four hundred mark.

Of the many visitors to the convention none created more interest than Mrs. William H. Taft, when on Thursday afternoon and evening she occupied a seat in the box immediately back of the speaker's stand. She was the guest of Mrs. Norman H. Mack.

Mrs. Taft entered the convention hall just before Temporary Chairman Parker surrendered the gavel to Permanent Chairman James. The crowd watched the first lady of the land with eager interest as she listened to the denunciation of her distinguished husband and the arraignment of his administration contained in the speech of the permanent chairman. But if they expected any evidences of displeasure on the part of Mrs. Taft they were disappointed, for she only smiled at each telling point, and at the conclusion of the address applauded vigorously. She did not applaud, or even smile, when Mr. James turned his attention from President Taft to Colonel Roosevelt and included the latter in his arraignment and among those to whom the Democratic party was unalterably opposed.

As Mrs. Taft entered the box with Mrs. Mack, a gray-haired southerner near enough to distinguish her started an ovation for her. When pleasantly chided for his actions by a younger acquaintance he replied:

"The first lady of this land, or any lady, is entitled to the courtesy of every gentleman; and I would have you know, sir, that the Democrats of the South are gentlemen."

Mr. Bryan and his followers made political capital from the appearance in the convention of Ryan and Belmont. They acted as a red rag to a bull on the Bryan cohorts. Belmont occupied a conspicuous place in the first row in the box immediately back of the speaker, while Ryan, though occupying a seat with the Virginia delegation ordinarily, was on the speaker's stand a number of times. Ryan wore a plain business suit, and so far as clothing was concerned could not have been distinguished from any of the other delegates. Belmont attended most of the evening sessions dressed in evening clothes, the broad expanse of his white shirt front making him easily distinguishable from others around him.

Bryan, when not on the stand, occupied a seat with the Nebraska delegation immediately in front of the speaker and facing Belmont. During the sessions as the delegates would flock around the Nebraskan seeking his advice or counsel, or upbraiding him for his opposition, he would point his finger at Belmont to emphasize his points, and his action would nearly always result in an uproar.

On Thursday night, at the close of Senator Reed's speech naming Clark, the speaker's beautiful daughter stepped onto a chair in the gallery, and with a big American flag wrapped around her, and another in each hand, led the cheering for her father. She was the only woman who figured conspicuously in the demonstrations.

Baltimore is by no means a convention city. It is a city of homes with limited hotel accommodations, which made the housing of the big crowd a hard problem to solve. This shortage of hotel accommodations was met by appealing to the people of the city to open their homes to the visitors. The committee in charge established a room-renting agency where those willing to accommodate the Democratic guests could list their rooms. The following is a sample of what was offered:

"I should like you to rent one of my rooms for me," said an amiable-looking elderly lady in weeds. "It is a large room and it is furnished with antique mahogany furniture. The bureau belonged to my great grandmother. It's a Sheraton, and you know how few Sheraton bureaus there are left in this country. If you could just send some western senator, or governor, or even a congressman to look at it, I know they would take it right away, and it would be such a treat for them to live, even for just a few days, in a room furnished with old mahogany. My husband traveled in the west once, and he told me all the furniture was just made of pine. He did not seem to like the west at all. You will be sure to send me a western governor or senator," she repeated as she moved away to give place to another woman with rooms to rent.

PRETTIEST BIRD IN WORLD
Quetzal of South Guatemala Taken
Beauty Prize Among Feathered Creatures.

What is considered the most beautiful bird in the world is the quetzal, of Guatemala. Until within the last few years it was unknown to science among the feathered creatures, delighting in the silence of high altitudes. It dwells on mountain heights above 7,000 feet in elevation.

The quetzal was the royal bird of the ancient Aztecs, and its plumage were used to decorate the head-dresses and cloaks of their kings. The quetzal's breast is a brilliant scarlet, while its green tail attains a length of three feet. It is about the size of the common pigeon. It nests in holes in rotten trees, which it enlarges with its bill so as to make a roomy and comfortable residence. The young are hatched totally devoid of feathers.

It is the hardest of all birds to prepare for mounting, for its skin is as tender as so much tissue paper, and the feathers are implanted to such a slight depth that they readily fall out. A specimen is very apt to be spoiled by falling against a branch of a tree on being shot.

Up to 1860, naturalists did not know where the quetzal was to be found. The few specimens which had fallen into their hands had been obtained from Indians, who kept the secret. About that time, however, a collector, visiting that country, got on the track of the birds and went up into the mountains, where he shot a number of them. In ancient times the skins of all birds of this species belonged to the king, and none but members of the royal family were allowed to wear the feathers.

The quetzal belongs to the family of trogons, the genus including forty-six species, thirty-three of which are American. All are very beautiful and extremely rare.

MONEY THAT WENT BEGGING
One of the Most Curious Cases in the History of the Chancery Courts.

Perhaps there is no more curious chapter in the history of the chancery courts than that of two Pittsburgh men. The first had a claim to a small estate abroad, but he did not have the money to pay the claim agency to make a search. So he got a friend to back him. This friend's name was Peterman, and the money he advanced was like a grubstake—he was gambling on his friend's claim proving up. One day, when Peterman was at the claim-agency office, he came upon this advertisement in the agency files: "Peterman (Albertus), musician, born in Amsterdam, 1829, son of Charles Frederick and Henrietta Suzanna Gasman. Left for Liverpool, 1856. He is sought for inheritance by M. Contot, advocat, 21 Boulevard St. Germain, Paris." That was the inception of the famous "Kinsey docks" case, the name coming from the fact that the original Peterman was last seen at the Kinsey docks in Liverpool. The claim agency took the matter in hand, traced Peterman's lineage back, and enabled him to establish a good claim to an inheritance of $200,000. That was a case of fortune being thrust upon a man.—Lewis Edwin Theiss, in Harper's Weekly.

Protection.
"Women who are alone in a flat all day take many precautions to insure safety," a gas collector said. "One way that I learned the other day made me feel rather foolish. When I went into the kitchen to read the meter the mistress of the flat stepped to the telephone and said:
"It's all right, Central. It's only the gas man."
"Of course, she was under no obligations to explain that cryptic allusion to myself, but she did it voluntarily."
"Every time the doorbell rings when I am here alone," she said, "I take the receiver off the hook and leave the telephone open before I go to the door, so that if I should have occasion to scream they could hear me at headquarters and send somebody to my assistance."
"To utilize the telephone company as a private detective bureau struck me as nervy, but I have since learned that a lot of lone women resort to that plan with satisfaction to all concerned."

Motors in West Africa.
The policy of developing southern Nigeria by means of road-making has resulted in the existence of several hundred miles of roads suitable for mechanical transport. Motor cars are used by several Europeans, and two native gentlemen in Lagos have recently acquired cars. In addition to government transport services, the native government of Abeokuta has successfully arranged a small transport service employing six motor wagons. Several motor bicycles are used by natives. There is, however, a good opening for a motor transport service in Lagos in connection with the removal of trade goods from the warehouses to merchants' premises and to the railway, while much remains to be done to bring about a more general use of motor traction throughout the country.

HOW DUTCH FARMERS LIVE
Cattle Invariably Are Housed Under the Same Roof as the Family.

The typical Dutch farmhouse is square, one-storyed, with a pyramid-shaped roof. The space between the apex of the roof and the ceiling of the dwelling part is generally used as a storehouse for winter food for the cattle. The living room door opens into the stable, for the cattle are invariably housed under the same roof as the family. The homes vary little in their furnishings. One always sees bright strips of carpet, a highly polished "center table," where the family Bible is displayed, and a glass dresser, with its shelves filled with rare old brass and Delft ware. The most curious thing about the houses is the sleeping quarters—unique and certainly unhealthy from the modern viewpoint, which requires plenty of fresh air in the bedrooms.

The cheesemaker's family sleeps in beds built in cupboard-like recesses in the wall and as far from the window as possible. There is a door similar to that of a cupboard, and this is kept closed during the day, in order that the bed may be hidden from view. The stuffy condition of this walled-in bedroom can be readily imagined. The linen is always snowy white, and the whole make-up presents an attractive appearance, even to the decorated strap suspended from the ceiling and used to assist the occupant of the couch to arise. The visitor is always welcome at the cheese farms, but the visit must be made early in the morning if the cheesemaking is to be seen—Leslie's.

WAS AFRAID OF EXCITEMENT

Reasons Advanced by Man Who Wanted to Get Off Bond of Mail Contractor.

The departments in Washington receive some queer letters. Below is given verbatim a letter received last November by the bureau that has charge of the bonds of mail contractors, from a man who wished to get off a bond. It is unique. The last sentence contains a valuable suggestion to others who dislike to receive disagreeable news, especially on business matters. The letter tells how he signed the bond merely to oblige a friend and then continues with this personal history:

"I risk My life to go to the lecture this fall I have Done all I can for you office Men at the White house. So I Wood like if you office Men Wood get me out of trouble so I cod Rest I haint Work one Day for 13 years on count of Palpitation of the Heart Some times I can't bare the clock Strike So you No My heart is Weak you office Men Do all you can to get Mee out of trouble. If they had told Mee the let-ten Was 4 year I Never Wood sind the bond I thought it Was 1 year So I Was told when you Rite Don't Rite any thing that will excite Mee it Will Fly to My Heart."—Kansas City Star Don't Be a Dowdy.

The best-dressed woman is not necessarily the one who spends the most money. Time, thought, and taste tell to the advantage of dress. Those who persist in speaking of carelessness in dress as if it were a merit are greatly mistaken. To be pleasingly, though not elaborately dressed, and as attractive as she may be, is every woman's duty, and the dress that suits the occasion confers dignity upon the wearer. "Why do you wear a pretty bow in your hair and take so much pains to have a becoming tie?" some one asked the teacher of a large class in the public school. "I wear my ribbons and put on my bows and make myself attractive because I have to influence for good fifty boys every day," was the reply. The teacher was right. Her boys believed in her much more than they would have she been a dowdy.—Christian Herald.

Charity Box.

Take an old trunk or large box and call it your charity box. Into it put all the articles with which you have finished—pictures, magazines, books to read and old ones for scrap books, pretty cards, clothing and all sorts of wearing apparel, pieces of silk, cloth and lace for dolls' clothing, envelopes with foreign stamps, all the little things you have finished with. Every once in a while go through it and dispose of its articles to orphan asylums, hospitals, etc. Then when you are called on for contributions to rummage sales all you have to do is to go to the box and not have to "rummage" around.

Missing the Point.

Representative Bucker of Colorado, apropos of a tariff argument about sugar, said to a Washington correspondent: "Oh, well, those men don't see my point. They miss my point as badly as the old lady missed her son's." "Mother," a young man said, "would you believe that it takes 5,000 elephants a year to make our piano keys and billiard balls?" "Make our piano keys and billiard balls?" cried the old lady. "Well! I always understood that elephants were intelligent creatures, but I never knew before that they'd been trained to make piano keys and billiard balls."

Everybody Pretty Green.

"It's no wonder that Cain turned out so badly."

"How so?"

"Neither his parents nor anybody else in the neighborhood had had any experience in bringing up children."

ARE SLIDING DOWNWARD

Moguls Crippled And Discouraged By Having Losing Streak.

SOME NEW MEN ARE COMING.

Fans Are Patient, For Every Team Must Have Ups and Downs.

Following close upon the heels of three defeats by Evansville, the McGuis lost a double-header to Clarksville Thursday and are crippled in the two games yet to be played with Clarksville.

The line-up has been changed so by the shortage of men and the necessities of the unusual conditions, that some of the best men are playing poor ball in places for which they are not suited. To make matters worse, Yon has been unable to win games this year and Hawkins has been released suffering with rheumatism. This leaves only two pitchers and Manager Lewis has had to get in the box himself. The fans are hoping that Yon, the star pitcher of the league last year, will soon get in form. Another pitcher is badly needed, as well as two infielders. These weak places will be filled as soon as possible and luck will turn by another week.
